NUMBER 18

Holiday Entertainments.

Mrs. J. F. Patteson was hostess on Saturday evening at a beautiful Washington birthday dinner given in her home on Greensburg street.

The table was tastefully decorated with white carnations. Place cards decorated with cherries and individual bonbons filled with nuts by the side of which were placed miniature hatchets artfully represented the spirit and sentiment of this holiday occasion. The living room and beautiful home were profusely decorated with roses and sweet peas. The hostess was assisted by Miss Sarah Coffey.

The guests were: Mrs. M. L. Grisom, Mrs. Geo. Staples, Mrs. C. M. Russell, Mrs. W. B. Patteson, Mrs. Robt. Reed, Mrs. Gordon Montgomery, Mrs. E. B. Barger, Mrs. George Stults, Mrs. A. D. Patteson, Mrs. W. A. Coffey, Mrs. Horace Jeffries, Mrs. B. E. Rowe, Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett, Miss Minnie Triplett.

Last Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. M. Russell and Miss Minnie Triplett entertained from 2 to 5 o'clock a number of lady friends, at the home of the latter. The occasion proved delightful for all in attendance. A salad course was served, and in the contest, illustrated by artfully arranged pictures, "Who is Who?" Mrs. Sam Lewis won the prize. The guests were: Misses Sue King, Ella Giltner, Carmen Belcher, Nina Rickman, Maude Griffith, Alice Walker, Madge Rosenfield, Leonora Lowe, Vic Hughes, Katie Murrell, Jennie Garnett, Sallie Baker, Mollie Caldwell, Mesdames A. D. Patteson, W. B. Patteson, J. F. Patteson, George Stults, Gordon Montgomery, Horace Jeffries, Robt. Reed, W. A. Coffey, W. A. Hynes, T. T. Watson, Titus Mercer, Logan Winfrey, Barksdale Hamlett, Zora Rowe, Sam Lewis, George Wilson, Woodruff Flowers, A. H. Ballard, Allan Walker, W. D. Jones, Edwin Cravens.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Barksdale Hamlett, on Burkesville, Ave., was the scene on last Wednesday evening, of a very enjoyable affair, which will be pleasantly remembered by those present. The occasion was a six o'clock Martha Washington dinner. The rooms were beautifully decorated with red carnations and a patriotic touch was given by the display of flags in the dining room. The color scheme was carried out in the table decorations, cut glass vases containing red carnations being used. The place cards were ornamented with small flags and hatchets. Covers were laid for fourteen, the following ladies being present: Mesdames W. A. Coffey, Willie Hines, A. D. Patteson, C. M. Russell, George Stults, Jo Rosenfield, Jo Patteson, W. D. Jones, Zora Rowe, Gordon Montgomery, Geo. Staples; Misses Sallie Baker, Minnie Triplett, Jennie Garnett.

Died at Breeding.

Mrs. Sallie M. Janes, who lived in the Breeding section, this county, died Monday night of last week. She was a lady who had many friends in the neighborhood and will be greatly missed by those who had known her for many years. She was 77 years old, and was a victim to diseases incidental to old age. Mr. J. H. Janes, of this place, is one of her sons.

Valuable Property for Sale.

My residence property on Greensburg street, half mile from court-house in Columbia, Ky., and known as the Locust Grove Stock Farm. This is one of the most desirable homes in the county has a splendid dwelling house, possibly the best stock barn and corn crib in the county. Otherwise well improved. Payments can be arranged to suit the buyer. Call on or address me at Columbia.

Does Farming Pay in Adair County?

Some farmers get tired of the old home county, sell out and go either west or South, hoping to better their condition. After a mistake is made and occasionally a farmer betters his situation by seeking and locating in a new country. Most generally through, the farmer who remains at home comes out best in the end. To show that a good farmer can do as well here as elsewhere, we relate the following:

In 1917 Mr. R. K. Young sold his farm, lying two miles east of Columbia, to Mr. Tilden Wilcoxson, of Green county, for $8,000 and a little later Mr. Young bought a farm near West Point, Miss., and he is now on it, and we hope that he is doing well. He is a good farmer and a first-class man. Mr. Wilcoxson went to work on his farm here, and the first year he made and sold and has yet to sell $7,000 worth of stuff raised and grown on it in little over twelve months. Furthermore, he has been offered four different times $16,000 for the farm he paid $8,000 for, and he has answered every time "My farm is not for sale." Does this not look like farming in Adair county pays?

Terms will be liberal at Allen Walker's sale at the Epperson Farm near Montpelier Sat. March 1st.

McAllister----Eubank.

Accompanied by Mr. Robert Sublett and Miss Julia Moore, Mr. D. O. Eubank and Mrs. Louisa McAllister, motored to the home of Rev. N. A. Johnson near town last Sunday and were united in marriage at three o'clock. Mr. Eubank is the junior member of the firm of Eubank & Son, dealers in dry goods, Cane Valley, Ky., and is a splendid young man. Mrs. McAllister is a noble lady with many friends, some of whom are in our town. The News-Journal wishes for them a pleasant voyage over life's stream.—News Journal Campbellsville.

Three Score and Ten.

The birthdays of two great and good men were celebrated in Columbia on last Saturday. That of the father of his country was observed in many homes. But particular pleasure was enjoyed by the family of Rev. Z. T. Williams in his home on the 22nd, observing his 70th anniversary. Rev. Williams who has been pastor of the Christian church here 20 years and a resident of Columbia for 15 years, on the occasion of his birthday last Saturday was the recipient of congratulations, messages, and gifts from far and near. A sumptuous dinner was enjoyed by the family, members of whom present were his children: Mr. Luther Williams, of Cave City; Mr. J. A. Williams and Mrs. Bert Epperson who live here, and their families.

Columbia, Ky.

R. D. Foley, Humble, Russell county, is reported slightly wounded, in France.

Miss Winnie DeHoney has accepted a position at Carthage Tenn.

Valuable Farm Sold.

Mr. Allen Walker transferred his farm, last week, known as the Epperson farm, located near Montpelier, to Ray and Robert Caldwell for $8,220. This is one of the best farms in the county.

Farmers have commenced discussing the coming of the 17 year locust, the proper name of which is cicada. They are due in a number of States this spring, including Kentucky. A writer who is posted on the ravages of this pest says: "Defer putting out young fruit trees till next year; postpone budding operations, do no pruning this winter or spring. When the insects commence coming out hand pick them from the young trees. When the insects are ready to commence laying, spray with whitewash."

Will pay 35 cts. cash and 40 cts. per lb. trade for butter.

Nell & Cheatham.

Next Monday will be circuit court. There are many people in Adair county who have been agitating the building of a loose leaf house. On this day, while there are many people in town, would it not be an opportune time to discuss the matter, and also to take definite steps toward an organization?

See our new line of Jerico Rodgers. The best ever bought to town. They are guaranteed L. E. Young.

18-2t

Quite a number of people are fearful that too much attention will be paid to tobacco growing this season and not enough to corn. One farmer stated Thursday that in the Southern part of Adair county, ten acres of corn would be planted to every one acre set in tobacco, and it is likely the ratio is the same over the county.

The big sale at the Tom Epperson farm, Saturday March 1st. Allen Walker.

Obituaries, cards of thanks and personal letters sent to this office for publication will be charged for at the rate of 5 cents per line up to twenty lines. After twenty lines have been set, the charge for the remainder will be 20 cents per inch. Remember this and do not send this character of matter unless you expect to pay for it.

Under the new tax law the assessor goes over the book and where he thinks a piece of property should be raised he raises it then notifies the property holder. His action goes to the board of equalizers.

Mr. J. W. Moran, who was sent to Lakeland about four weeks ago, returned last Sunday night, restored to his former self. His many friends will be glad to read of his restoration to health.

Buying and selling farms has been an active industry in Adair county for several months. Those who are buying with the view of speculating, have made considerable money.

FOR SALE:—Six nice Duroc Jersey shoats.

B. L. Conover,
Columbia, Ky.

Mr. L. M. Young wants his friends to know, that while in business, he appreciated their custom. He also commends Mr. W. E. Harris, his successor, to them.

The March term of the Adair circuit court commences next Monday. The civil docket is light, but there are quite a number of Commonwealth cases.

In the next two weeks, if weather conditions are favorable, plowing for corn will occupy the time of the farmers.

Mr. Green Murphy is the overseer of the poor farm of this county. He has been in charge for some weeks.

Hogs dropped 75 cents in the Louisville market last Tuesday. Pigs also went down $1.50 on the hundred.

The dog tax list, started last week, included precincts No. 1, 2 and 15.

Arm Broken.

Last Saturday afternoon, while attempting to crank an automobile, Miss Corinne Breeding got both bones of her right arm broken above the wrist. She was carried into the home of Mr. Geo. H. Nell and Mrs. R. Y. Hindman and C. M. Russell called, who reduced the fractures. The patient is doing very well, though she has been a great sufferer. She will be removed to the home of her parents in a few days.

Public Sale.

I will on Saturday, March 1st, 1919, at 10 o'clock A. M.

At my farm, known as the Tom Epperson place, two miles west of Montpelier, sell to the highest bidder the following property:

6 Coming two year old mules.

1 Pair 3 year old mare mules.

2 Pair four year old mules.

1 Pair five year old mules.

16 Black yearling steers, the best in the country.

13 Good black cows, all heavy springers.

4 Good calves.

1 Extra good Aberdeen bull, 15 months old.

20 Head of hogs.

6 Sets of harness.

3 Farm wagons.

A big lot of farm implements.

7 Stacks hay.

50 Barrels corn.

TERMS liberal, and will be made known on day of sale.

Allen Walker.

Valuable Farm Sold.

Last Wednesday Mr. C. S. Harris transferred his farm, one mile from Columbia, and containing 294 acres more or less, to John D. Turner, of Harlan county. The consideration was $23,000. Possession is to be given the first of April. Mr. Harris has recently purchased a large boundary of land in Mississippi, and to which he will now turn his attention. He has no idea of giving up his citizenship in Adair county, a statement his many friends will be glad to learn.

The obituary that appeared in The News, two weeks ago, on the death of Mr. L. P. Hurt, was written by Mr. J. V. Dudley. It was well prepared and was evidently consoling to the relatives and friends of the deceased. The omission of Mr. Dudley's name to the article was an oversight in this office which we regret.

The new cases of flu that made their appearance last week are recovering. Persons who have been afflicted should be careful to wrap comfortably before going out. There is nothing that has a better effect than precaution when an epidemic is in the country.

Clem Burton, of Vester, this county, sold his home place, containing one hundred acres, to G. T. Burton, a few days ago. The consideration was right at $5,000.

Cane Valley is to have a broom factory. The machinery arrived last Tuesday.

Born, to the wife of Oliver Pelly, February 18, a daughter.

Died at Burkesville.

Owsley Ritchey, a prominent young man of Burkesville, a son of Mr. J. H. Ritchey, died last Thursday night. He was about twenty-seven years old and for several years he was engaged in the grocery business, with his father. He was a victim of pulmonary trouble and recently returned from New Mexico where he remained several months, hoping to be benefited. He was popular throughout Cumberland county, being very courteous in his manners. He is survived by his wife, father and two sisters, Mrs. John Lee Walker, of this place, and Miss Alleen Ritchey. His mother, who before her marriage, was a Miss Alexander, a sister, of Mr. Horace K. Alexander, died a number of years ago. This town sends condolence to the stricken members of the family.

Flu Patients.

The following new cases developed last week, but they are all doing well, with the exception of one:

Miss Alice Walker, Guy Atkins Nell, Miss Lattitia Paull, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hamilton, two of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Noe's children, Mrs. Louard Bennett and son, two children at Charley Parson and two at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Coffey; two at the home of Dr. J. N. Murrell.

Testing Seed Corn.

Farmers should not lose the lesson of last spring with reference to the importance of testing seed corn. Corn that to all outward appearances was sound proved to be worthless for seed. The farmer should never take a chance with seed corn, but should thoroughly test every ear intended for seed. The sand and sawdust tray and the rag-doll testers give good results.

While the loose leaf houses of Campbellsville and Greensburg have been well patronized by the farmers of Adair county, the Louisville houses have come in for their share. More than thirty hogsheds have passed through this place in the last eight days en route for the Falls city. This tobacco was accompanied by a number of growers.

Willie Burbridge, of color, who it will be remembered was the delivery boy for Reed & Miller, this place, for number of years, died very suddenly in Louisville one day last week. His mother left for the city upon receiving the information.

M. A. Lapsley sold to Ed Phelps, last Wednesday, six head of fat pigs, that weighed 915 pounds. He paid from $13.50 to $15.50. They were only six and a half months old.

The Lindsey-Wilson re-opened last Monday week. Some of the pupils who had flu are not able, as yet, to return. The institution hopes to be well-filled within the next week.

Russell Shaw, Kells Shop, Russell county, is reported wounded, degree undetermined. Luther T. Redman, Roy, and Montie Sneed, Gradyville, are reported slightly wounded.

Sam Burdette, of this place, sold and delivered to Williams Bros., of Cumberland county, last Wednesday eleven head of mules. They brought from $135 to $225 per head.

Petit thievery is still going on. The latest is that some one entered the sheriff's office and stole a fine revolver belonging to Mr. Cortez Sanders.

Next Monday will be circuit court. The March court usually draws a large crowd. In all probability some fine stock will be on exhibition.

Now That It's All Over.

Did you ever hike million of miles?
And carry a ton on your back,
And blister your heels and your shoulders, too,
Where the strap run down from your pack.
In the rain or the snow or the mud,
perhaps,
In the smothering heat or the cold,
If you have, Why then you're a buddy of ours
And we welcome you into our fold.
Did you ever eat with your plate in your lap?
With your cup on the ground at your side,
While cooties and bugs of species untold,
Danced fox trots over your hide.
Did you ever sleep in a tent so small
That your head and your feet played tag?

Then shake, old man, you're a pal of ours,
For you've followed the same old flag.
Did you ever stand in a front line trench,
With Fritzie a few feet away
With Jerries and Minnies a whistling around,
And gas coming over all day?
With no Man's Land a sea of steel
And a tempest of bursting shell?
Then come in old man and toast your shins,
For we're all just back from hell.
E. B. Sublett, A. E. F.

Died at Absher.

Mrs. Harriet Robertson, who was the wife of Delaney Robertson, deceased, died at her late home, at Absher, last Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The deceased was about 70 years old, and was a sister of Mr. H. B. Ingram, this place. She was a lady highly respected and will be greatly missed by the entire neighborhood. About six months ago she met with a stroke of paralysis, from which she never recovered. She was a devout member of the Christian Church, and her funeral was largely attended.

Allies to hold Munitions Factories and Control all War Material.

Paris, Feb. 18.—When the Germans came to sign the terms of the new armistice, says a Havas dispatch from Treves, Mathias Erzberger handed to Marshal Foch a twenty-three-page memorial, in which it was attempted to justify Germany's attitude it being maintained that she had done her best to meet her obligations. He also gave the Marshal a memorandum from Philipp Scheidemann, the new German Chancellor, complaining of the increasingly hard terms forced upon Germany, and protesting against the Germans being forced to evacuate Poland, delivering German fortresses to the Poles and abandoning the German people there. A demand was made that the allies require the Poles to cease their attacks against the Germans.

This last request has already been complied with, a telegram having been sent to Warsaw from Paris last night.

The special commission of the Supreme Council, charged with drafting the terms of a definite armistice which will hold good until the peace preliminaries are signed, has almost completed its task and it is possible, says a Havas report, that Marshal Foch will be able to notify the Germans on Thursday or Friday the military and naval terms which will be essentially those of the preliminary peace treaty.

It is understood that the terms will include clauses by which Germany will be allowed to maintain only 25,000 men under arms to keep order.

All war material beyond what is necessary to equip these troops would, according to report, be placed under control of the allies who will also hold Germany's munition factories.

Borah Refuses.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Senator Borah, of Idaho, has asked to be excused from attending the dinner at the White House at which President Wilson will discuss with members of the Foreign Relations Committees of Congress the constitution of the proposed League of Nations.

In a letter to Secretary Tumulty, Senator Borah said it was the custom to hold in confidence any information received at such a gathering and that he was not willing to be bound to silence on such an important subject, on which he and the President disagreed fundamentally.

He added that nothing could make him agree with the constitution of the league as it now stood.

White House officials said no other member of the committees had declined the President's invitation and that it was understood all the others would accept.

On receiving the Idaho Senator's letter today Secretary Tumulty immediately transmitted it by wireless to President Wilson aboard the transport George Washington on his way home from France.

Certain-teed

Roofing

Certain-teed renders a war service.

Certain-teed saves war supplies, because it is made of materials which have no use in war products. It serves war needs because it provides our armies, and peoples everywhere, with efficient, economical roofing.

Certain-teed saves war transportation, because it is so compact that it takes minimum car space, and so easy to handle that it requires the minimum time to load and unload.

Certain-teed saves war labor. It can be laid in less time than any other type of roof, and no skill is required—anyone who will follow the simple directions that come packed in the center of roll can lay it correctly.

The durability and economy of Certain-teed are recognized the world over, as proved by its enormous sale. It is now the standard roof for factories, office buildings, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings, etc.

Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness. Sold by best dealers everywhere.

THE TEXT-BOOK ADOPTION.

The adoption of textbooks to be used in the schools of Kentucky for the next five years has been completed. No doubt some needed and good changes have been made. It remains to be seen when the complete list and prices are published whether material and real improvement has been made. It is significant, however, at this time, that while the Governor, who is chairman of the commission that he appointed, promised the people the fewest number of changes possible, the maximum number possible has been changed. While many of the books adopted five years ago were never our choice, and, we fought bitterly not only their adoption, but the corrupt plan by which they were forced upon the people, we can see no improvement in the material and unnecessary and expensive changes that have, by this commission been made. We have heard of no charges of graft and of no dissension among the commissioners, incident to this adoption. Indeed it has been done in a remarkably quiet way, we fear too quietly and unanimously. It is of course, truly evident that the fewest number of changes possible would have worked the least hardship upon the masses of the people the majority of whom are poor. At the same time the largest number of changes possible would naturally give the greatest opportunity for the exercise of insidious influences and graft so usually incident to book adoption. However, all is well that ends well, and the dear people may never know the difference in these fat days of prosperity.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE PREMIER OF FRANCE.

Premier Georges Clemenceau, characterized by Lloyd George as "France's grand young man," was attacked February 19, by an anarchist, Emile Cottin, known as "Milou." Seven shots were fired, three of which struck the Premier. One bullet lodged in the muscles of the shoulders, penetrating deeply, but, so far as is at present known, not injuring the spine, or penetrating to the lungs. Two bullets bruised the right arm and hand, while two other bullets are reported to have passed through the Premier's clothing.

At the time of the attempted assassination M. Clemenceau had just left his home to drive in a motor car to a conference with Col. Edward M. House, of the American peace delegation, and Arthur J. Balfour, British Secretary of Foreign Affairs. Though bleeding profusely, M. Clemenceau was able to return to his home, where he reassured the members of his household and waved aside anxious inquirers with "It is nothing."

Latest reports from his attendants were that his condition was satisfactory and that he was cheerful throughout the day despite occasional fits of coughing.

NOT TO BE TRUSTED OVERNIGHT, SAYS TAFT.

"The gentlemen in the Senate who are setting out to defeat this League of Nations are those I would not trust overnight," former President Wm. H. Taft said last Wednesday in San Francisco at a luncheon given in his honor by civic organizations, as a part of the programme of the Pacific Coast Congress of the League to Enforce Peace.

"They are citing the Constitution as an argument against it," continued Mr. Taft. "I revere and worship that great instrument, and it is a new story to me if the Constitution prevents this people from playing their part in bringing peace and happiness to ourselves and the other peoples of the world."

"This is not a political question, God forbid. I am glad President Wilson went to Europe, because he went bearing a promise of a League of Nations."

"The application at this time of the doctrine of avoiding entangling alliances is reactionary to the extent of delaying world peace one hundred years. The question at this time is whether the whole great plan of the League of Nations is to be defeated because we can't get a two-thirds majority of our Senate for its ratification."

Mrs. Loss Janes died a few days ago, at the home of her son, G. W. Janes, near here. She was very old and had been suffering for some time with a complication of diseases. She was the widow of the late Loss Janes, one of our best citizens. Your scribe extends to the bereaved children his sympathy.

Aunt Mallie Curry, of color, died last week at Velva Vaughn's with paralysis. She fell over dead as soon as she was struck. She was a good old darkey and will be greatly missed among the colored people and her white friends.

Our folks here have all about recovered from Flu.

Mayen, Germany.

I will try to write a few lines to let you know I haven't forgotten you folks.

I am a country boy, born and raised in Adair Co., Ky. My folks now live at Casey Creek, Ky. I left my home Sept 20th, 1917, for the training, Camp Taylor Ky., sailed for France June 12, 1918, landed in Liverpool England June 23, 18. Stayed in England 6 days, left there June 29, crossed the English Channel landed in France the next day in a small town by the name of Loharue and after a few days we went to a Classification camp at Et. Aginan. After I was classified I was signed to Co. D. 116 supply train, stayed there until some time about Sept. 1st. From there I was sent to Southern France to a M. T. C. school and made fairly good. After two weeks schooling I went back to St. Aginan to a replacement Park, then I was sent to the 3rd Division. After I was signed to this Co., we were soon on our way to the Toul Front. We stayed there a few days, then went to the Argonne Forest better known as the Verdun Forest, where the 3rd Division went into action on the morning of Sept. 28th, 1918. It is true that the 3rd Div., stayed in action longer than any other Div. that took part in the battle of Argonne Meuse. On Nov. 4th, just seven days before the Armistic was signed the 3rd Division was relieved. We went back for a rest but it wasn't long until we were on our way to Germany. We occupied the territory as the Germans withdrew their troops. We made several stops along in order to let the men have a rest. We made a long stop at Bettemburg, a small town in the state of Luxemburg, afterward had orders to leave there and were soon on German soil. We hit the Rhine river at a small village by the name of Oherwesel, followed the Rhine for about ten or twelve miles to Coblenz. Stayed there for a short while then crossed the Moselle river, finely reaching our destination a small village by the name of Mayen. We are now in a very nice place staying in private homes.

We are in the army of occupation which means that our Div. will stay over until peace is officially signed. Well as I have got to get ready for inspection tomorrow, I will close, hoping you people of Adair the best of luck and Gods blessings. Hope to return to the good old U. S. A. in the early spring. As ever your soldier friend, Pvt. Gresham Ford, Company C. 3rd, Supply Train A. P. O. 740, American Ex. Forces, France. Army of Occupation.

From France.

Dec. 24, 1918.

Mr. Arthur Royse,

Dear father:

This is Xmas eve and I am still in France. I didn't have the opportunity to write you on Dads day, so I will write you now. I haven't received any mail yet. I hope you are all well and getting along fine. Some of the lucky boys are on their way home. I expect to be among the last to go back so I won't be disappointed, but there is one thing we can be thankful for, we won't have to dodge the big shells and machine bullets. I have been on several fronts; you have probably read about them in the papers. I was on the Contingency front for several weeks. We moved to the Soissons front and went over the top on July 18, We advanced about 4 miles and then I got my first wound by a machine gun bullet just above the elbow on my right arm; it didn't touch the bone. I was sent to the Hospital, and when I returned to my regiment they were on the Vernum front, then after several days there I was slightly wounded again. It was a high explosive shell this time. I don't know just how close it struck but it sure shook me up and a small piece of the shell went in my right leg below the knee and a piece in one finger. I will write again soon, give my best regards to all.

I am your loving son,

Cohen Royse,

Plot to Assassinate Wilson.

A plot was uncovered in New York yesterday by secret service authorities to assassinate President Wilson in Boston to-day. Fourteen members of a Spanish branch of I. W. W. were arrested and imprisoned.

After being questioned at police headquarters, where their fingers prints were taken, the prisoners were locked up without bail, pending arraignment before a United States commissioner tomorrow.

Meanwhile mechanical experts were assigned to assemble a complicated machine found dismantled in one of the rooms raided. The secret service agents said they could not explain its purpose. Translators were put to work on a mass of papers and pamphlets seized.

One of the houses raided had been under police surveillance for several days as a result of meetings held there it was said.

Eleven of the prisoners, when booked at the police station, gave New York addresses, two said they lived in Philadelphia, and a third said his home was in Elizabeth, N. J. All the men, it was said, are Spanish aliens who have come to the United States during the last three years.

EDITOR AMONG PRISONERS.

According to the secret service men, a youth of 25, who gave the name of Jose Grau, is chief organizer of the Spanish I. W. W. here, and is the editor of a radical Spanish newspaper published in New York. In the I. W. W. organization, it was said, he is known as Armoldo Sapatena.

The Other Bird.

Below is a poem written by Albert Bryant, and sent to his Father and sisters. It is a mere contrast of the S. O. S. boys and those on the Front. Alert went through the fighting in France and is now in the armies of occupation located at Fort Festung Ehrenbreitstein Germany.

"When other bird from the S. O. S. Sits down to his steak and pie, He proclaims his wrath with scorching tongue, And swears he'll rather die Than count out cans of Monkey meat And check off leaves of punk, That he wants to fight and hit the gaff, And a lot of other Punk, He wears a good old Campaign Hat And a pair of Russet Dogs, And has a little Mademoiselle To share his dialogues. While the man in arms contents himself With a can of old 'Corned Bill' He casually reads his undershirt, For literature is Nil. He wears a Stetson made of tin His dogs weigh many a pound When nightfall comes, he builds his 'Flop' And turns in on the ground. You read a lot of phony junk about the Y. M. C. A. But for all the fun the fighter has, You bet your socks he pays, Somebody says down in Poree There's a Y there that's a bear But the front line don't benefit For the S. O. S. are there,

Up where the big boys scream and howl,

And there's gas and hell and all,

There's a Myth; these red triangle men,

Up where your comrades fall.

Here we'll have to pause and say A kind word for a chap,

And he is the good old red cross man, And goes up where they scrap,

He passes out all that he has, And does it with a smile,

While the other bloke, grabs for the Francs,

Like a miser Oser and his pile.

Back to the bird in the S. O. S.

With his sorry doleful plight Who really hates to count shoe strings

And thinks he wants to fight, I crave to take these burning youths,

By their soft slender hands, And lead 'em into the scene of Hell

That bound by moral bands. But no its too late and they're going back

The boys from the S. O. S. They'll be heroes from over there,

And we will stay here 'til we rot I guess,

Trey'll tell of how they drove the Huns,

From the Marne to the River Vesele While the man who really bit the Chunks

Is still reading A. E. F. mail. They will tell of how they took the heights

Of dizzy Mountfaucou, And the siege of the Argonne woods,

And how they carried on We'll occupy the "Vaterland"

As we are doing now, And eat the "Chinese Army Grub,"

Better known as "Raw Tin chow." Some day perhaps our scow will sail,

And take us across the foam, But the only thing to welcome us.

Will be the fact that we are home The cherring throngs with welcome arms,

Who meet our Brave(?) S. O. S: Will be dispersed and passers by

Who say, more of these birds I guess. But we'll always know who stripped the Boche,

And bridged the river Vesele, Who reduced the salient of Mihiel,

And stormed the Argonne trail, The S. O. S. will spill their lead,

And pull their Here stuff, But when the fighting men come home Say, watch us call their bluff.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royce City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot..."

I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

The flu having subsided, the general health of the community is very good.

Wheat, oats and young grass are looking fine in this section. The farmers have been busily engaged in turning the soil during the pretty weather just past. So if the "old man" continues to smile on us, the indications are we will reap a bountiful harvest.

J. M. Dunbar sold a milch cow to Elmer Blair for $60.00.

"Uncle" Ben Allen, merchant in the north end of town, is doing a lively business with the gasoline grist mill and crusher which he has lately installed, while Mr. L. C. Warriner, who is a merchant of many years experience, continues to make things hum in the south end. So it is to be observed right now that our burg is on a boom.

Mrs. S. E. Wolford and Mrs. Julia Collins, two of the oldest ladies of our community, are very much in declining health.

Mr. S. B. Collins and Mrs. Martitia Carter sold 50 acres without any buildings, of the old Carter place, to Sam Helm, for $925.

W. S. Antle and wife, of Montpelier, spent from Saturday until Sunday visiting at D. C. Grier's. They report that their son, Ray, who is in the service and stationed at Coblenz, Germany, is expected home at an early date. They also further stated that he had been under heavy shell fire on most of the battle-fronts of France. Alas! had we ourselves been a physical man, what a different tale we could tell.

Rev. Upchurch, pastor of the M. E. church, on the Jamestown circuit, filled his regular appointment at Bethlehem the 2nd Sunday for the second time since he has been on the work. Before coming to this part Bro. Upchurch was a Y. M. C. A. worker in the army. He has the appearance of a christian gentleman and is liked by all who know him.

J. M. Dunbar sold 5 shoats to Green Dunbar, of the Welfare section, for $18.00. Green Kean also sold 3 to the same party for 11c per lb.

Mr. Herbert Popplewell's singing at this place, on last Saturday night, is reported a success. We understand he will sing on each Saturday night from now on.

C. C. Holt, who made a trip to Louisville, last week for the purpose of being treated, has returned and reports he is feeling no better.

Miss Ella Antle and Miss Polle Belk, two of the county's accomplished young teachers, left last Sunday for Campbellsville, where they will enter the Russell Creek Baptist Academy.

Mrs. Fanny Acree left on the night of the 14th, for Terre Haute, Ind., to be at the bedside of her son Wallace, who has taken a relapse from the flu.

Born, to the wife of Elihu Collins, Feb. 13th, a daughter; to the wife of Bill Guffey, Feb. 14, a daughter.

Omra Wolford bought a pair of work mules from O. C. Kimbler.

Mr. E. M. Montgomery had a sale the 13th. He has a position in a bank at Burnside, Ky., and will leave immediately for that place. As Mr. Montgomery is one of the county's best teachers, a first-class business man and good citizen, we regret very much for him and his interesting family to leave our county. Mr. Hoskins Clark also had a sale the 14th. Mr. Clark and family will go to Illinois where they expect to make their future home. "Uncle" Ben Allen bought Mr. Clark's dwelling and lots at the sale for $425.

"Aunt" Victoria Hudson, widow of the late Shirdon Hudson, has rented a house of Mr. J. M. Dunbar. Mrs. Hudson with "aunt" Sis Hawkins, an old lady that lives with her, will remove from her property to the above at once.

Mr. Harlen H. Haynes, silversmith, and formerly sculptor, is doing a good business.

Mr. Alexander, Burkesville, salesman for the Louisville Grocery Co., was calling on our merchants last week.

We are informed that an appropriation included in the Rivers and Harbors bill for the purpose of buying the lock and dam sites for the improvement of the Cumberland river, from Burnside, down, has passed the lower House of Congress, and been favorably reported in the Senate. For good people, education, fine farms and many other things, Russell Co., is equal to her sister counties; but commercially the poorest in the "world." Give us river transportation, a good pike to the railroad, and our old county would take on new life and present a different picture. With the constant whistle of boats, and honk of great auto trucks, methinks we hear old Russell raise her voice and exclaim: "come unto me, all ye that are weary and tired of work, and I will give you rest."

To My Father's Friends.

A SKETCH OF HON. JOHN L. PHELPS.

I think I should be false to my father's friends if I did not send them this message. It may be difficult to write with due restraint of one's father, but I shall try to do so.

At the Methodist church in Jamestown on Feb. 10, a large crowd of neighbors and friends assembled to pay their last respects. The Captain, as his intimate friends usually called him, had peacefully passed to the other side on Sunday morning, the 9th, lacking one month of being 76 years old.

The simple, impressive services at the church were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Upchurch, assisted by Rev. H. B. Guinn, of the Christian church.

They spoke briefly of my father's service in the army as a soldier of the union, of his admission to the bar after the war, of the public positions he had held and of his early espousal of the temperance and local option cause and his firm adherence to the principle of legal prohibition the rest of his life.

While he had not practiced law or been in public life for a number of years, I think I gained a fairly accurate estimate of his characteristics and of the principles that guided him in both. As a lawyer he was not as widely read as some of his associates. He stuck to a few of the best books and I have yet to meet a man who seemed to get more education out of the same amount of reading. In one important branch of the law, Evidence, his associates used to say he was unexcelled.

In public life I think he never calculated closely whether he should win or lose. He merely asked, "Is this right." If he decided it was, he was ready for the fray.

As a public speaker he possessed unusual force. He never attempted to speak on a subject until he had mastered it. His style was crystal clear. No one had any doubt about what he meant. As a prosecutor he drove straight to the vital issues in the case and when a prisoner, who was willfully guilty of an atrocious crime, heard him once he was not likely to want to hear him again. A shrewd defendant in an important case who sought a change of venue, afterwards admitted that his real reason was that he did not want my father to prosecute him.

But it was in his opposition to the liquor traffic that my father felt he had contributed his best services to his fellow men. I think I am strictly within the truth when I say I have never heard any other temperance or prohibition orator bring together such an array of arguments as he did.

As I remember he usually began by answering the arguments of the liquor men. These, for the most part, came under the heads of "business", "revenue" and "personal liberty." The first he disposed of by showing that as a business the liquor traffic meant only economic loss to the country; that the revenue was really paid by the drinkers and not by the dealers at all. But the "personal liberty" argument he disposed of with the most scathing irony I have ever heard. "Personal liberty," he would exclaim—and his naturally fine voice expressed a world of contempt—"the liberty to get drunk, to be a fool, to wallow in the gutter, to beat your wife, maybe; to let your little children go cold and half starved while you spend your money at the saloon; in short, to be a criminal, for voluntary drunkenness Blackstone says is a crime: no, such is not my conception of liberty." Then when some of the personal liberty advocates were mad enough to fight or start a disturbance in the audience he would begin telling an amusing story and they would smile in spite of themselves and decide to hear him through.

He held the offices of County Attorney, member of the Legislature and of the Constitutional Convention of 1890. It is significant that after many people said he could not be elected to any office on account of the opposition of the liquor men, he was elected to the Constitutional Convention without opposition in either party.

One thing I think I ought to mention. He sought the counsel of good men of all parties and creeds. One of his most trusted friends was the Hon. J. F. Montgomery, who served with him in the convention; another was the Hon. Wm. Herndon, of Lancaster; another Eld. Z. T. Williams, of Columbia, and I could name many others, none of whom, I believe, belonged to the same party or to the same church my father did. He never lost interest in public affairs and during the last year his views seemed to me singularly clear and correct.

Of his private life it would not become me to speak, except to say that both in public and private relations I have never known a man of more unswerving integrity. There was no double-dealing, no concealment. You always knew exactly where he stood, what he meant and what to expect of him. Of course he had political opponents and, at times, personal enemies, but in all these years I have never heard that even one of them said that John L. Phelps could be guilty of a dishonest act or do an unworthy thing in politics or anywhere else. A legacy of which I am very proud.

Lilburn Phelps.

in commerce and industry. The soldier-voter will see to it that America is provided with similar highways. During his days in France, the "Yank" does not recall meeting an unimproved road outside of the actual war zone. out that eulogy of senator Vest on Fido. The trouble with people who claim the dog as their patron saint, and who feel that they are doing the State service by killing partridges, is a narrow or distorted vision. Fifty years ago, virgin forests covered our domain, game was plentiful; and most of people were too busy to hunt. Now cultivated fields have replaced the forest, the habitat of game is destroyed except for bobwhite; and he is needed to destroy the insect pests, of farm, orchard and garden. But a gang of men whose daddies left them land that cost one dollar an acre that now will bring from $25 to $100 an acre, must use a pump gun and a setter dog and ruthlessly destroy an innocent, clean, and useful bird that is worth more to a community than fifty idle sportsmen. Daniel Boone and Simon Kenton needed a rifle, axe, hunting knives and dogs; but they were pioneers, reclaiming the wilderness. When men were called to defend the colors, I didn't see the birdhunters line up very fast. My boys had always been too busy to hunt; but the call of their country became the voice of God; and three of them left good salaries to eliminate Prussianism from the earth. All were getting good salaries; and one was badly wounded, one was fighting when the bugles pealed, "Cease firing;" and is still in France, while still another is yet in uniform. The boy who was wounded is receiving $4.50 a day; and one too young to enter the war is making $108 a month. These raging defamers of Kaiser Bill had to, at least three out of a family, stay at home "To take care of Granny" and beat back the savage horde of partridges.

Permit me, in conclusion, to pay a tardy tribute to my friend and kinsman, the late Larue P. Hurt. He was a noble industrious citizen and withal, an honest man, the noblest work of God. He was pleasant, cheerful and optimistic; and generous and warm-hearted. The fierce Spirit of the glass and scythe has garnered in many of my friends and kindred and their loss is sincerely mourned. So far none of my sons have perished in this world war; but I have dropped the silent tear of sympathy over many pupils of by-gone days that have made the supreme sacrifice. Many, many of my favorite pupils sleep the sleep that knows no waking; and gaps are in the ranks of former friends and schoolmates of both sexes. But with Larue, all are enshrined in fadeless memory; and in the consolation of Christianity, we have a hope to live again. We know there is a divine essence that animates all nature and holds out the light, hope and consolation that we shall never, never die. Farewell, Larue, an eternal farewell so far as sublunary things are concerned; but may we meet again on shores eternal.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, Confederate veteran, lawyer, banker, historian and author, died of infirmities incident to age at 3:05 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home, 429 West Ormsby avenue. He was 75 years old. Death closed a career of peculiar picturesqueness and ended his services to a community which for a half century had felt his support and influence.

In the earlier days of his association with the activities and growth of Louisville, fifty years ago, General Young was a builder whose monuments stand today in the Kentucky and Indiana railroad bridge, of which he was the constructor, and in railroad construction, which since that time has served the city. In later years he was best known as a lawyer and a historian of affairs of the state of Kentucky. He also was known throughout the nation as a commander of the United Confederate Veterans.

From Caser, N. C.

Editor News:—

After something of a lapse, again admission is sought in your columns. While I enjoy the efforts of Hon. Barksdale Hamlett to furnish a very excellent local journal; I seldom read it while teaching. My family enjoy reading it, and I have never had it changed from my home address. But on my home visits I read it with delight; and if any special feature appeals to me, my wife she informs me by letter.

While speaking of personal matters, permit me to say that our school registers an enrollment of 142; and our monthly average at last report was 100. This was despite prevalence of the flu which at present is very near us. Dr. Hunt, of Caser, has 50 cases within a radius of five miles. Nearly all schools in this county have had to stop; but we boom serenely on. So far, we have had no cases. Last year we had to contend with smallpox, mumps, measles and scarlatina; but controlled the situation and had a fine average. In my room, we have Latin, Algebra, English History in addition to regular curriculum.

After thirty years fighting on my part and some few others; light is beginning to dawn on the realm of education. By a majority of 100,000, the voters have added an amendment to State Constitution for six month's term of school; with a promise of adequate pay for teachers. The first requisite is to really be a teacher and not merely a parasite that draws breath and salary; and next pay a skillful craftsman a decent wage: say $65 a month. It might surprise some people in Adair county to learn that I hold a life certificate.

Among other moves in the right direction, the State is about to enact a law that will cause every worthless cur to pay for privilege of killing sheep, sucking eggs and disseminating hydropobia; or, he has licked his last skillet. We have a local law for this, Cleveland county; also a game law to protect partridges. Your Uncle Melvin does not go to the Legislature; God knows he has enough to answer for; but he prods the Cleveland member; and his hillbilly electors are not to be trifled with. For thirty years his face has borne the scars of conflict; and he has been a voice crying in the wilderness for better schools, better highways, the protection of birds and the elimination of worthless curs. Good dogs are a necessity, if there be any; and shepherds, mastiffs and bloodhounds may be in this class. But if they are valuable, let them help bear the burden of taxation like the horse, cow, hog and sheep; all of which are food or draft animals. Until my attainments of 50 years, I had to pay a poll tax; and is a dog better than a man? When you corner a demagogue or a ring paper, they weep into a handkerchief big as a circus tent, and snuffle
